On Dec. 8, 2019, T-EDGE Global Innovation Conference announced the results of the annual global innovation competition, in recognition of enterprises and individuals who have made outstanding contributions to the science and technology frontier. With many technological breakthroughs and achievements, Xunlei Limited won three major awards. First, Xunlei limited was recognized as "Tech Company of the Year Award". Second, ThunderChain, a high-performance blockchain infrastructure launched by Onething Technologies, a subsidiary of Xunlei Limited, was recognized as "Blockchain Technological Breakthrough of the Year Award". And finally, Mr. Lei Chen, CEO of Xunlei Limited and Onething Technologies, was named as one of "Top 10 Contributors in Blockchain Innovation of the Year Award".

The panel of judges agreed that, despite challenges in 2019, by leveraging its unique advantages of proprietary distributed technology, Xunlei has made continuous innovation to advance its cutting-edge shared cloud computing and blockchain technologies. By doing so, it not only maintained its leading market position, but also demonstrated strong strengths in empowering sustainable industrial development and setting a benchmark for industrial transformation and upgrading.
